

Did you know...

Desert Research and Extension Center (DREC)

- California is the largest producer of alfalfa in the United States.
- Cows fed with alfalfa produce higher quantities of milk than cows fed just on grass hay.
- New irrigation methods tested at the Desert Research and Extension Center are helping alfalfa farmers use less water.
- Alfalfa is essentially ice cream in the making.

To learn more about alfalfa and other crops grown at the Desert Research and Extension Center, please visit the Center's website.

